	2.4.3	Practice of medical practitioners	45
2.5		Rationale of research focused on doctors	47
2.6		Research gap	49
2.7		Research framework of the study	50
Chapter 3		Materials and Methods	57 – 82
3.0		Introduction	58
3.1		Problem statement	58
3.2		Rationale of the study	58
3.3		Research questions	60
3.4		Objectives of the study	62
3.5		Formulation of hypotheses	62
3.6		Scope of study	64
3.7		Research design	64
3.8		Sources of data collection	64
3.9		Methods of accessing data	65
3.10		Data collection form	65
3.11		Instrument development	65
3.12		Pilot testing	70
3.14		Sampling plan	73
3.15		Sampling procedure	74
3.16		Contact method	74
3.17		Collection of data	75
3.18		Analysing data	75
3.19		Reliability & validity of the instrument	75

3.20			Demographic profile of the sample	78
Chapter 4			Results	83-130
4.0			Introduction	84
4.1			Research Questions & Hypotheses	84
4.2			Normality test	86
	4.2.1		Skewness & Kurtosis z-values	86
	4.2.2		Kolmogorov-Smirnov & Shapiro-Wilk test	89
	4.2.3		Histograms, Normal Q-Q Plots and Box Plots	92
4.3			Application of statistical tools	92
	4.3.1		Response to knowledge items	92
		4.3.1.1	Influence of knowledge on doctors in prescribing generic medicines	95
		4.3.1.2	Knowledge amongst doctors at healthcare centers	97
		4.3.1.3	Knowledge of generic medicines amongst male and female doctors	98
		4.3.1.4	Knowledge in age groups	99
		4.3.1.5	Knowledge amongst doctors in different employment status	100
		4.3.1.6	Knowledge amongst doctors in different level of education	101
		4.3.1.7	Knowledge amongst doctors having non-surgical and surgical practice	102
		4.3.1.8	Knowledge amongst doctors in experience groups	103
	4.3.2		Response to attitude items	104
		4.3.2.1	Influence of attitude on doctors in prescribing generic medicines	106
		4.3.2.2	Attitude amongst doctors at healthcare centers	108
		4.3.2.3	Attitude towards generic medicines amongst male and female doctors	109
		4.3.2.4	Attitude amongst doctors in age groups	109
		4.3.2.5	Attitude amongst doctors in different employment status	110
		4.3.2.6	Attitude amongst doctors in different level of education	111

		4.3.2.7	Attitude amongst doctors having non-surgical and surgical practice	112
		4.3.2.8	Attitude amongst doctors in experience groups	113
	4.3.3		Response to practice items	114
		4.3.3.1	Influence of doctors' practice in prescribing generic medicines	118
		4.3.3.2	Practice amongst doctors at healthcare centers	119
		4.3.3.3	Practice of generic medicines amongst male and female doctors	120
		4.3.3.4	Practice amongst doctors in age groups	120
		4.3.3.5	Practice amongst doctors in different employment status	121
		4.3.3.6	Practice amongst doctors in different level of education	122
		4.3.3.7	Practice amongst doctors having non-surgical and surgical practice	123
		4.3.3.8	Practice amongst doctors in experience groups	123
	4.3.4		Practice of prescribing generic medicines amongst doctors at healthcare centers	124
4.4			Influence of KAP on doctors in prescribing generic medicines	126
	4.4.1		Cognitive	127
	4.4.2		Affective	128
	4.4.3		Conative	129
Chapter 5			Discussion	131-145
